IT'S JUST A PRANK BRO

You want to be famous, right? Rich and famous?

Well, it takes talent. You gotta start with some skills that most people don't have. Then you push those skills to the limit with hard work, and a relentless dedication to self-improvement. It takes years and years. You keep grinding until you are the best of the best. Then, if you're lucky, you might just make it. Sounds good, right?

Screw that! Might as well get a job.

Here's a better idea: you've got high ambitions, poor impulse control, and a total disregard for the welfare of others - just what it takes to make a viral prank show. Find some unsuspecting suckers, do something hilarious, and record the whole thing. Post it online. If the people recording it don't like it, they can suck an egg. If the people watching it get outraged, then you're doing something right. Who cares, anyway?

So smash that like button, hit subscribe, and remember: it's just a prank, bro.
